Submission of claims for compensation

On the basis of the claim for compensation (hereinafter referred to as "the claim"), the plaintiff may, under the conditions laid down by law, request compensation from the defendant for compensation for the damage caused by the breach.

The application will be sent to the authority in the case. The relevant authority shall make a decision having evaluated the application.

Electronic attachments may accompany the request.

Receipt of the application

Applications and attachments submitted electronically through the client Gateway are forwarded to the document management system of the Police via the central electronic service system. The client receives notification thereof from the central electronic service system. The application and its attachments automatically reach the authority that they are addressed to via the document management system of the Police and the applicant receives an automatic notification of the fact. Lack of an automatic notification from the document management system of the Police means that the application and its attachments have not reached the relevant authority. In that case it is suggested that the applicant contact the relevant authority by telephone.

Processing the application

If the relevant authority examining the application determines the existence of the conditions specified by the law, the defendant shall be bound by a decision to compensate for the damage caused by the breach. In the absence of any conditions specified by law, the request shall be rejected by decision of the relevant authority.

An electronically authenticated copy of the decision will be issued and forwarded by the Police to the plaintiff's Gateway storage space. No personal appearance is usually required when considering the application.
