Procedure

Muzzle-loading weapons for hunting use and carrying gas and alarm weapons only for the purpose of self-defence must only be licensed to natural persons.

Natural persons who have reached the age of 18, have legal capacity; have no criminal record, and no court has established their criminal liability for committing crimes specified in the Arms Act, furthermore, who are not subject to criminal proceedings on reasonable suspicion of a crime listed in the Arms Act, may be authorised to hold firearms capable of discharging projectiles with an energy not exceeding 7.5 joules (Flobert guns) exclusively.

Athletes (natural persons) who fulfil the following requirements shall be authorised to hold a firearm for shooting sports: they are qualified sports shooters registered with a sports club and have a valid sports licence issued by the relevant national sports alliance; the relevant sports alliance recommends their holding a firearm of their own based on their regular sports activities. For the approval of the licence to hold a firearm, the applicant needs to pass a prior psychological test on two successive occasions. The two tests need to be taken with an interval of a minimum of half a year and a maximum of 2 years.

A cooperation agreement between the employer of the applicant and the territorially competent county (Budapest) police headquarters is required for the approval of an application submitted by a person employed as a civil servant or public servant as specified in c)-1) of paragraph 1) of section 1 of the Law Enforcement Act.

Submitting the application

Use of the muzzle-loading weapon for hunting purposes, wearing of gas and alarm weapons for self-defense purposes, possession of firearms for target shooting (float), possession of firearms for hunting, sport shooting and work purposes for work shall be forwarded to the county police headquarters competent according to the place of residence of the applicant, in Budapest to the Budapest police headquarters.
